Small holes and breaks in flametal as the flashing. Dissimilar metals will corrode.

Cut out squares of sheet metal large enough to fit in the valley flashing and overlap the shingles on each side by several inches.

Then bend the patch diagonally. Coat the area with roof cement. Fit the patch in place and push the pointed edges under the shingles on each side.

You may have to use several patches to finish the job. Be sure that the edges-especially the upper edge-are well sealed. Water should run over the patches and in to the gutters without hindrance.

Use Substitute

If you cannot find the proper metal patch use a glass fiber cloth in conjunction with roof cement. Use a layer of cement, then the patch and then another layer of cement. The edges of the glass fiber can be extended over the shingles.

Copper flashing can be repaired by soldering another piece of copper over the broken area. You will have to clean the old flashing thoroughly to expose the bare Care should be taken when inserting patches under roof shingles. Pry up shingles carefully so that they don't break.

Coat Underedge

Coat the underedge with roofing cement. Use shingle nails through the shingles and flashing and into the sheathing beneath. The cement will seal the nail

Complete flashing replacement is best left to a roofer. And if you are not sure-footed on ladder or roof, leave the patching to a roofer as well.

But even if you don't do the work yourself, it's a good idea to know the difference between a roof leak and faulty flashing. You could save the expense of a complete re-roofing job.

Where stucco breaks are large and the material is loose from its backing such areas should be removed. Cooperative Advertising In Danger Administrative agencies of the federal government, never distinguished for their friendliness to the business community, continue to erode what little confidence in government controls remains.

Currently it is the Federal Trade Commission, which has created an atmosphere of uncertainty and fear which threatens to disrupt the well-established relationships between manufacturers and retailers in the apparel industry.

It has long been the practice of manufacturers of apparel and other consumer goods to grant advertising allowances to their retail distributors.

In fact, there can be little doubt that cooperaive adverising plays an important part in the development of local markets and the success of mercantile establish-

As a result, the future of cooperative advertising is beclouded by uncertainty.

Manufacturers and retailers are not interested in violating the law. They simply want to know what the ground rules are. And who should be better qualified to define them than the agency which enforces the law-the Federal Trade Commission?

Stout, Secure and Exultant

The Kennedy administration is doing a first-rate job of fooling the American people about the gravity of Cuba.

Politicians of both parties are doing their hest to put a gloss on a situation so raw it makes them want to close their eyes. They ere adopting pious resolutions and issuing ringing declarations.

Everybody who is inclined for one reason or another to conceal from himself and from his countrymen what he feels in his heart to be true about Cuba is looking for a good face to put on the situation there.

This is human nature.

It is the age-old practice of apologetics, which in foreign affairs has more often been called appeasement.

The idea is to evade the brutal truth to conceal what is by pretending it doesn't ers in the New World.

Barefoot?

Guess who's sponsoring National Barefoot Freedom Week Sept. 29-Oct. 6? You're right, it's the shoe dealers

They'd be the last to advocate all us humans walking up and down State St. sans some sort of foot covering, however. "Barefoot freedom," the merchants are quick to point out, is meant to emphasize the freedom while wearing proper shoes that you once enjoyed as a barefoot youngster. And, the proper shoe is what they always want to sell. Fashion being what it is, particularly with women who wear three and four-inch heels, it's not hard to understand why some go almost barefoot around the house to relax their metatarsals.

Those Blue Devils

"Dig Deep For the Devils," a billboard on the Lisbon square reads.

To an out-of-towner that may be a bit startling, for who for the sake of his soul wants to ally himself with ignoble creatures?

Actually Lisbon supporters of the Lisbon

High School football team, the "Blue Devils," are "digging deep" to give financial support for Coach Bud Bucher's gridders who have a habit of enjoying winning seasons-even against Salem Hgh a number of years ago. A season opener next year between Salem and Lisbon would be a natural, in many fans' opinion.

They aren't fooling Communists anywhere, because all Communists either study or are aware of dialectics - the art of tying up an opponent in mental confusion by drawing him into argumentation over nonexistent

Communists cannot be fooled by apologetics and ialectics. These are tricks they use to fool other people.

What are the plain facts about the Cuban

1. The United States cannot enforce the Monroe Doctrine, because its Latin American agreements on mutual consent have barred unilateral action against European trespass-

2. The United States is conceding that Cuba already is under Communist control and nothing will be done about it but the Communists had better not go any further than Cuba or there will be trouble. If this isn't a source of mirth in the Kremlin, the Khrushchev sense of humor must not have infected that busy place.

3. The United States is both the victim and the beneficiary of a form of government which keeps it from reacting violently to violence. It must wait for some overt military action before it can justify a strong military reaction.

4. The United Sates is practicing appeasement against its will, just as Britain was taken advantage of by a ruthless expansionist in the '30s.

THE BITTER TRAGEDY is that so many public figures are taking a hand in fooling the American people. Their time and skill might be put to better use in telling the American people that Cuba has been worse than Pearl Harbor, where the enemy hit and

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: You keep asking me why I don't worry more and I keep telling you I don't have any worry to spare on your global topics. I use my worry capacity on things I can do something about.

This does not satisfy you, however, so once more I'll try to set you straight. It's Everything terrifying that could happen in a lifetime has been tried out on me, either as an idea or a practice. The ideas were worse than the practices, but none of them ever materialized.

It was when I understood that a man only dies once that I quit worrying about things I could do nothing about and concentrated on things within my jurisdiction.

There aren't many of these. For example, I can do something about averting ingrown toenails if I show genuine concern, as our President says, and I have worried about this all my life. I have had only one mishap. But I can do nothing about ingrown toenails among Tibetans so I waste no time worrying about them. I can do something about making my own little patch of this earth as pretty as I can make it. But I can do nothing about improving the appearance of a distant place I never saw. So I don't worry about it. I can't do anything about contamination of the atmosphere by people who cause atomic explosions. But I can keep from contaminating the atmosphere in my own neighborhood and to that end I've always been careful about smoke control and trash

Have I show you the difference between your global worrying and the kind of worrying I do?

People worry about Khrushchev. Not me. There's nothing I can do about Khrushchev. But there is something I can do about the people who represent me in dealings with Khrushchev. I can tell them every chance I get that this man is a ruthless opportunist with his mind set on a single goal and they should never negotiate with him.

Sweet reasonableness has no effect on the Khrushchevs of this world. I could only wish we had someone as hard-nosed as him to call our signals. We don't, though, and that's something else I can't worry about.

As you know, I do worry Your aunt thinks I worry too much. She says I make too much of trivialities. It's possible I'd be better off if I passed up my piddling provincial worries and concentrated on the big

But I'm not made that way. I'd make a mess of it. I'd let my toenails grow and neglect the shrubbery. I might turn into one of those freaks who worry so much about the hereafter they have no time to comb their hair right and clean their nails right You stick to your global worrying if it

A crisis of abundance appears

Although it is upsetting to the conventional wisdom prevailing Washington about Premier Khrushchev's life and hard times, there are some diplomatic mavericks who, undeterred by their lack of impact in high places, persist in the thesis that the Soviet leader has good reason to feel that he is not doing badly for a country boy.

Much has been made of Soviet Russia's agricultural difficulties, the challenge of the Common Market, and the pressures to which Mr. Khrushchev is allegedly subjected by the bad old Stalinists, in and out of Russia. a half million people who were do not obscure the substantial gains made by Mr. Khrushchev in the cold hard strategic facts geography and international

It is, for instance, Mr. Khrushchev who can factually boast to his cronies, Stalinist and non-Stalinist alike, that he has established and consolidated the only new frontiers brought into being on the face of the globe during the past two years.

THE FIRST new frontier of course runs right through the middle of Berlin where one and Granted all these realties, they formerly free to breathe the air of West Berlin any time they chose (and go to its shops, attend its concerts, buy its newspapers, engage in its political arguments have been enslaved by The Wall.

The second new frontier is of course in Cuba where (according to the latest figures) some 10,-000 Soviet bloc soldiers, sailors and technicians are helping Castro install "defensive" missiles.

The third new frontier appears to be dawning in Laos where with American attention diverted elsewhere, there seems little will to resist a creeping Communist take over.

Some of Mr. Khrushchev's accomplishments have been more subtle, than geographic, although they would be properly appreciated in the Soviet bloc where the daily measure of Western responses, or lack of responses, is charted as carefully as a sputnik in flight.

It must have been a source of satisfaction in Moscow to have Mr. Kennedy agree with Mr. Khurhschev's prior public pronouncement that "the Monroe Doctrine is dead" at least to the extent that the President indicated that it would be unjustifiable to apply it to Cuba under present

This however is not likely to disturb Mr. Khrushchev unduly so long as Mr. Curran's government takes the stand (more pronounced in official Washington in private than in public) that the real problem is not to neutralize the Soviet gains in Cuba but contain the "hotheads" who

Dear Readers: I have said repeatedly (and I say it again) I and under no circumstances will I put one reader in touch with another. Hope dies hard, however, and recently, 2,173 women were hoping to be put in touch with a Colorado gentleman who was looking for a wife.

"Mr. Grand Lake" wrote: First I'll tell vou what I have to offer. Then I'll tell you what I want. Age: 58, Height: 5 feet 10. Weight :140 pounds. Education: Graduate engineer (University of Colorado). Financial Status: Good income. Can live comfortably without working. What he wanted: An old-fashioned girl who enjoys mountain life. (City living was out because of sinus trouble.) She must like wild berries and be willing to pick and preserve them.

She also must know how to fish, hunt, skin rabbits, dress wild game, swim in a mountain stream and handle a canoe.

P.S.: He had been divorced twice because the women couldn't take the cold weather.

WITHIN THE WEEK I received 2,173 responses to his letter. Eager candidates telephoned Chicago and sent wires and letters. We heard from 50 states. Canada, Puerto Rico, Bermuda, Panama, Nassau and Venezuela. Michigan produced the greatest number of Paula Bunyons, with Minnesota second and Illinois

Freckle Phobia Dear Ann: I am a girl 17 years old and a senior in high school. I have eight million freckles and I hate every one of them. In addition to this handicap, when I was 14 I had acne which left me with deep pits on my cheeks and chin. I have a nice figure, pretty red hair and fairly good features. It's my skin that makes me unattractive. Mother says I'm exaggerating all this in my mind and I'm really lovely looking. I'm beginning to think I have a face only a mother could love. Can you suggest help? - MARGIE.

Dear Margie: There IS help available to you and I hope you will seek it.

As your doctor about a process called abrasive planing. It should be done by a skin specialist. This will remove your freckles and acne scars. But more important, it will give you the psychological lift you need.

All for One

Dear Ann: My cousin was married last month. Our wedding gift was a rather generous amount of money. We received no note of thanks. Last night we saw the newlyweds at a party. No mention was made of our gift.

The check was written on my mother's bank account. She attached a card to the check which read: "Best wishes from the entire Jones family." This meant my sister, my brother and his wife and my husband and me, as well as Mother. We contributed equally.

We feel the bride should have thanked each of us. Should I say something to her, or just skip it? -INDIANAPOLIS READER.

Dear Reader: The card which accompanied the check should have listed the name of each contributor.

Write your cousin a note and say: "I fear our gift to you was not properly labeled. The check was from Mother Jones. Brother Lawrence, Sister Frieda, Horace and me."

Before the New Frontier theoreticians began thinking up rationales for the exceptions to the rule, the Monroe Doctrine held it to be a threat to this hemisphere for an extra-continental power to control the political institutions of any American State. But according to the New Frontier, Moscow's domination of Cuba is tolerable, so long as the Soviet military build up is only defensive. Thus, the Monroe Doctrine can be violated so long as the violation is purely de-

NOT SURPRISINGLY, the Soviet press congratulated President Kennedy for that part of the press conference statement implying that those who wish to do something about Cuba (and Khrushchev himself is an expert on the many things there are short of such clumsy devices as a declared blockade or outright invasion) are rash and unable to keep their nerves or their heads.

History Today

Today is Monday, Sept. 24, the 267th day of 1962. There are 98 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1941, full adherence to the Atlantic Charter was pledged by the free governments of nine European countries and the Soviet Union. The charter was drawn by President Franklin Roosevelt and British Prime Min-

On this date:

In 1780, Benedict Arnold escaped to the British ship Vulture after attempting to betray West Point to the British.

In 1846, Monerrery, Mexico, was surrendered to U.S. troops.

In 1869, efforts by Fisk and Gould to corner gold touched off a Black Friday financial panic in Wall Street. In 1914, wireless telegraph communication was established between the United States and Japan.

Today's birthdays:

Sen. Allen Ellender of Louisiana is 71. Theatrical producer Cheryl Crawford is 60.

Thought for today:

Despair in vain sits brooding over the putrid eggs of hope-John Hookham Frere.

So They Say

Eighteen months ago, the peace of the world hung on the spin of a coin (in Laos). . . The great nations of the world looked over the brink to the prospects of world war, did not like it and withdrew. The Russians are facing the same sort of decision over Berlin today as they did in
